

Virtual Terminals

ConnectPay

Virtual terminals enable merchants to take card payments over the phone

There is little point in using a Chip and PIN terminal when the card holder is not present and there is no benefit from the additional security offered when the card holder is present. Instead transactions of this nature can be processed using a virtual terminal designed to replace the keypad function on a Chip and PIN terminal.

ConnectPay from Adelante offers a range of virtual terminals, each enabling you to take credit card payments and process them via the ConnectPay Payment Gateway. The flexibility of a virtual terminal system allows payment information to be entered and submitted from any web-enabled PC, Mac, tablet, mobile phone or smartphone. Virtual terminal credit card processing is fast, intuitive and secure.

How a Virtual Terminal works

Once you are set up, all you need to do to process a payment on a ConnectPay Virtual Terminal is enter the transaction amount, card details, and a unique reference number (your own reference number) and then click 'Confirm'. Card payment details are submitted to the banking network via SSL, the industry standard encryption method for virtual terminal payments. You and your customers can be assured that processing payments on a virtual payment terminal is fast and secure.

VISA

The version of our virtual payment terminal that is right for you depends on your device. Adelante has solutions that run via a browser on any type of device but also specific applications for smart phones and tablets including versions for Apple, Android, Windows Mobile and Blackberry devices.

Keeping a record of your transactions

ConnectPay records details of every transaction processed including those done on a virtual terminal. They are stored in the ConnectPay Merchant Administration System. This is available free to all ConnectPay Virtual Terminal users and can be used to manage users, view transactions, reconcile payments and process refunds.

Extend your services

Taking payments by mail, fax or phone will extend your services to a wider group of customers and increase potential revenue. With the use of the ConnectPay range of virtual credit card terminals you can process a payment anywhere you can get an internet or mobile phone connection. No technical knowledge is required to process payments. All ConnectPay Virtual Terminals are simple to use and require only very simple setup or configuration. The entire process is straightforward and secure for users and customers alike.
